FREE JEWISH FAMILY SERVICE – UTAH LECTURE SERIES:

“BULLYING PREVENTION IN SCHOOLS: WHAT WORKS AND HOW YOU CAN HELP!”

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 2012, 7 P.M., AT SALT LAKE'S MCGILLIS SCHOOL

(November 5, 2012) Salt Lake City – The community is invited to join Ben Springer, PhD, and Jewish Family Service – Utah, to explore the very timely and important issue of bullying, which affects children of all faiths and cultures throughout the United States.

Dr. Springer is an award-winning school psychologist and behavior specialist in the Park City (UT) School District. He is also a consultant with Spring Forward, a resource for families and schools struggling to manage difficult childhood behavior problems and educational difficulties.

As an expert in bullying prevention, social-skills instruction, and school-wide positive behavior supports, Dr. Springer will address:

- What bullying looks like
- How parents and schools can prevent and respond to bullying
- How to create a safe environment for children
- How to prepare children for the challenge of bullying

A question and answer panel discussion will follow, featuring Dr. Springer, Melanie Battistone, PhD, McGillis School Psychologist and Middle School Director, and Jessica Weeks, a Doctoral student specializing in bullying assessment and interventions.

Where: The McGillis School, 668 South 1300 East, Salt Lake City, UT

When: Wednesday, November 14, 2012, 7 p.m.

RSVP: 801-746-4334 or elizabeth@jfsutah.org

Child care is available; please call ahead to reserve a space: 801-746-4334
