FREE INTERFAITH MONTH 2013 EVENT:

UTAH INTERFAITH POWER & LIGHT PRESENTS “A CLIMATE FOR CHANGE” A COMMUNITY CONVERSATION ABOUT CLIMATE CHANGE AND REAL SOLUTIONS, FEBRUARY 26, AT PARK CITY’S ST. LUKE’S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

(February 12, 2013) Salt Lake City – Utah Interfaith Power & Light (UIP&L) and the Roundtable invite members of all faith communities to participate in an evening of open discussion about real solutions to climate change.

Faith communities are integral to finding solutions to the very real threat of climate change. Sincere and meaningful conversations can move us past political divisions and into personal/community and spiritual/religious solutions to the crisis.

Anyone concerned about the retreating snow, warming climate, and super-storms like Sandy is encouraged to participate.

The evening will include short presentations by Rev. Charles Robinson, Pastor Jeffrey Loudon, and Park City Mayor Dana Williams, which will be followed by a dynamic group discussion about what individuals can do to impact the climate crisis.

This is one of a number of free Interfaith Month 2013 events. Please visit the Roundtable’s website, www.interfaithroundtable.org, for a current listing of activities and to download event fliers.
